Programmers/research-assistants needed for innovative website

Looking for excellent student programmers to advance an innovative web-based technology for crowd-based monitoring of child development.

- Salary: very competitive!
- Location: Technion CS Dept.
- Requirements: 2 days per week during semester, full-time between semesters

More details:
baby.croinc.org is part of an interdisciplinary study involving Computer Science and Child Development.

For more information on the project see recent media coverage of it:
2) CS website and links there in: http://www.cs.technion.ac.il/news/2015/793/

Please send your CV to Prof. Eli Ben-Sasson: eli@cs.technion.ac.il